GOOD HUMOR.

Bad Effects of Indulging in Ill Temper.

The best gift which can be given to a girl in her cradle by her fairy god-mothers is that of good humor. So far as her own happiness and that of those connected with her are concerned, it is better than wealth. She who can keep her temper under all circumstances, who can laugh over misadventures and persistently make the best of everything, however bad it may be, has conquered fate, and has an umbrella more or less proof against all the storms of life.

It must be admitted that cheerfulness is in great part a matter of temperament, and that there are people who can no more help worrying than a hen can help getting wet when it rains. But the hen can, and generally does, seek the best shelter she can. A talent for cheerfulness, like every other talent, can be cultivated and grows with using. "Arrah, Biddy," said the Irishman, "if ye can't be aisy, be aisy as ye can be!" In any event, if you must worry, try to keep it to yourself, and don't pour your burden of cold water over the sitting-room fire to the discomfort of your whole family. And let me tell you a secret—there is no cosmetic in the whole beauty shop half so effective as good humor.

Fretfulness and ill temper leave their indelible finger marks on the fairest face, while smiling good temper, illuminates the plainest one. "That child isn't the least bit pretty," said a lady the other day of one of her pupils in a large school "and yet to me she is the most attractive of all Miss L—" "girl's," her face is always so bright, and her eyes fairly sparkle with fun and good humor; I smile in spite of myself whenever I see her."

For years one of the reigning belles in an inland town was a girl of no pretensions to beauty, and of moderate means. She was clever and well educated, but her chief charms lay in the faculty which she possessed of making everyone at ease, and, as one of her admirers said: "Taking the sunshine about with her."

Nothing wears one out like fretting. Just as the friction on a machine which is unrolled grinds away the surfaces more in an hour than in a week of proper use, a day of fretful worrying will dig more and deeper wrinkles on your face than months of hard work faithfully done.

Any person will tell you that fits of crying will injure both your eyes and your complexion. A bad attack of the sulks will yellow your skin as surely as one of indigestion.

Make the experiment of practicing smiles and scowls before your mirror for a few minutes, and see which you think most becoming. If a thing can be helped, go to work and help it with a will, and do your very best; if it cannot, all the tears and worry in the world will not make it any easier to bear. You only cover your cross with prickles, and chafe your flesh against the barriers you cannot break. And, after all, few things are so bad that patience cannot better them.

There is an old story of two penitents who in the middle ages were ordered to expiate their sins by walking to Rome, many miles, with peas in their shoes. The one put the specified number of hard, dried peas in either shoe and reached Rome, after days of suffering, lame and footsore; the other quietly filled his shoes and journeyed as comfortably as though they had not been.

There is a great deal of philosophy in boiling your peas, and there are few so hard that boiling will not soften them. It may almost be said that the true secret of happiness in life is to make the best of everything, and in so far as lies in us to help others do the same.

Perhaps you think you have a hard time, there are so many things to vex and cross you in your lot. Suppose you sit down and make a list in writing of your worries and trials, and when all have been set down, make another list of your blessings. In most instances the comparison of the two lists will probably be to make you ashamed of yourself.

And it is as often happens your trial is that someone or other has or seems to have everything you want and cannot get. Stop envying her long enough to think to how many other girls your lot seems as enviable as hers to you. Besides, you may rest assured that even this fortunate creature has her own stock of worries. Don't you remember the fable how, when Jupiter permitted mortals to exchange their burdens, the wailing and lamentations redoubled when the exchange had been made, and all came back praying that their old loads might be restored?

And, my dear girl, only think what a cross your indulgence in ill temper must be to others, how uncomfortable you can make those around you by grumbling!—Mrs. M. P. Handy, in Housewife.

Woman Suffrage in England.
Women in England have the local government franchise in counties and boroughs on the same conditions as men, and a recent return shows how relatively unimportant their vote is. In the counties and boroughs of England and Wales there are altogether 5,325,879 local government electors; of these only 729,735 are women—that is to say, women form less than one-seventh of the electorate.

The Wheat King.
The wheat king of the world belongs to Argentina. He is an Italian emigrant named Guazone, and his broad acres are situated in the south of the province of Buenos Ayres. His crop occupies an area of 66,270 acres. He numbers his workmen by the thousand, and each one receives a certain share of the profits. When his season's crop is harvested he fills over 3,000 railway trucks with grain.

Making the baby happy is a woman's best pleasure. It is easy to make a healthy baby happy. Such a baby is born happy. Smiles and dimples are as natural to it as puffy cheeks and rosy lips are to a puny, sickly child. It rests with every woman whether her baby shall be healthy and happy, or puny and miserable. If during the period preceding maternity a woman takes proper care of the organs upon which the perpetuation of the race depends, she insures the health of herself and child. It is easy to do this. The proper medicine is at hand. Over 90,000 women have testified in writing to the value of it.

The organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible are directly acted upon by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares for maternity. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes its advent easy and almost painless. Druggists sell more of the "Favorite Prescription" than of all other similar medicines combined.

"I am anxious to add my testimonial to your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. C. G. Brandon, of Fort Grant, Graham Co., Ariz. "I have been using the 'Prescription' for several months previous to my confinement, and I am sure I have been benefited greatly from the time I commenced to use it. I feel fully as well as ever I did in my life. Up to the very day when the baby was born I did all my own housework; and during confinement I had not the least symptoms of fever. The 'ordal' was nothing to what I expected."

The woman who owns a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser probably does not realize at once all that she gave in exchange for it. There was the price of $1.50. That paid for the large volume of 1,008 pages. Then, as day by day she looked into these pages, one by one she gave away her anxieties for her family's health. She learned how to make her children well. In the chapters especially treating of her own weaknesses, she learned the causes and the cures. 680,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 each. Now an edition in strong paper covers, will be distributed FREE. Send at once stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., to cover the cost of mailing only. Send 3¢ stamps for cloth binding.

AGAIN COINING STANDARD DOLLARS.

Last July the Director of the Mint, who seems to be more of a dictator than a director, issued an order suspending the coining of standard dollars at the mint. He assigned as a cause for this order that there was no demand for the coins, and that there was enough fine silver in the Treasury to meet all demands for months to come. The latest report of the Treasury Department shows that there was only $5,000,000 fine silver in the Treasury and the San Francisco mint has been ordered to coin standard silver dollars again.

It appears that all the efforts of the Treasury Department to discourage the use of silver as money is unavailing. Though Sacy, Gage and Dictator Preston proclaim through the gold press that standard dollars are worth only 45 or 50 cents each, the people demand them and are determined to have them. Orders for silver dollars are sent to the sub-treasuries almost daily, and the coining of the dollars, which was suspended two months ago, has to be resumed to accommodate the people. Silver is the money of the masses throughout the country. All the small transactions of every day life are settled with silver and everybody who pays as he goes for what he purchases, uses silver. The people want, and the most pronounced goldbug in business is not only willing but desirous to sell any and all his wares for silver. He may prate about silver dollars being worth only 45 cents, but he never refuses to dispose of what he has to sell for such dollars. Though he may speak deprecatingly of silver dollars and say they are not worth as much as gold, he knows that he is not telling the truth, as a silver dollar is a legal tender for 100 cents for obligations, public and private.

Let a silver man go to the store of a goldbug with five, ten or fifty dollars in silver to purchase wares which the gold man has for sale and he will find that he can buy just as cheap for silver as he can for gold. If the intending purchaser finds it inconvenient to carry silver coins let him get silver certificates, which are redeemable in silver dollars, and Mr. Goldbug takes them as readily as he does gold notes, because they will pay as much debt, whether the debt be public or private, as the same amount of gold certificates. In practice he contradicts his theory and never refuses to give as much of what he has to sell for silver coins or silver certificates as for a like amount in gold coin or gold certificates.

Everybody who wants, wants all he can get of it, whether he preaches goldbugism or not, and for that reason the demand for silver is so great that our single standard Secretary of the Treasury and our single standard Director of the Mint, who, by the way, is a legacy left by Mr. Cleveland, have to resume the coining of silver to supply the demand for silver dollars.

THE TROUBLE AT KLONDIKE.

Returning prospectors, who left the Klondike in the latter part of August, have arrived at Seattle. They report whiskey plenty, but provisions scarce in the mines. It appears that a Mr. Gage, a son of the Secretary of the Treasury, saw an opportunity to turn an honest dollar, which he professes to believe is a gold dollar only, in supplying the hardy and thirsty miners of the Klondike with liquid refreshments. He sent a consignment of alcohol to St. Michaels, and though the laws prohibit the sale or importation of intoxicants in Alaska exception was made in the case of Mr. Gage, who was not only permitted to violate the revenue laws, but the accommodating transportation companies on the Yukon gave him the alcohol the preference over provisions, which the miners desired to ship up the river. The result is an abundance of whiskey, but a great scarcity of provisions at Dawson.

This reminds one of an early day incident out in Humboldt county. A. P. K. Safford, afterwards Governor of Arizona, W. K. Parkinson, once State Controller, and several other gentlemen, made up a party to go duck hunting on Humboldt Lake. They selected Charley Stevens as commissary and instructed him to purchase such supplies as he thought necessary for a week's hunt. Charley drove his team to Ewing's store and had a ten gallon cask of whiskey, a box of crackers and two sides of bacon put in the wagon and left for the hunting grounds. Later in the day the hunters followed on horseback and arrived at camp late in the evening with appetites sharpened by exercise. Charley, who had tapped the keg, invited them to help themselves and then served supper, which consisted of fried bacon and crackers. The hunters were dissatisfied and next morning returned to Unionville sadder and wiser men than when they left town the day before. Charley never forgave them; and said that they were the most particular people he ever saw and not fit to live in a free country and, though a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, he would never vote for one of them afterwards. He thought that men who would complain of food when they had plenty of whiskey did not deserve office and should not receive the support of any one worthy the name of American citizen.

RENO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Report and Honor Rolls for September, 1897.

To the Board of School Trustees—GENTLEMEN:—I respectfully submit herewith my report for the school term ending September 24, 1897.

ATTENDANCE.

The enrollment was 561, as against 538 in 1896, 558 in 1895, and 561 in 1894, the enrollment in the latter year having been the largest in our history. Reno's school population is again increasing. Some of the lower grades are a little crowded, but by judicious promotions in January, under the semi-yearly plan of promotions, I think they can be fully relieved.

FAIR WEEK.

We are gradually reaching that point of interest in school work that enables us to run nearly as smoothly during State Fair week as at any other time. Over 90 per cent of the pupils enrolled were in attendance the four days on which school was held. Pupils necessarily absent on account of the Fair were given every privilege in reference to their studies; all others were required to be present, and regular work was done. But the moral effect of keeping nearly 600 children off the streets during the greater portion of four days in Fair week would make it profitable to run school that week, even if the children learned nothing from their books.

To President Powning and the State Agricultural Society for their generous invitation, and to the School Board for their kindness in allowing a holiday, the school children are all indebted for a most pleasant day at the Fair.

Below will be found the statistics and honor rolls:

The trophy which is to be presented to the winning team in the great fifty-mile relay race next Sunday is now on exhibition in the show window of R. Herz's jewelry store. It is a handsome water pitcher appropriately engraved and will make a valuable souvenir for the winners.

COMMUNICATED.

The People Against the Arrogance of a Corporation.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Every voter should feel a deep interest in the matter to be decided at the polls next Thursday. On one side we find the Reno Land, Light and Water Company aided by a contingent of well to do citizens making every effort to influence taxpayers against the new water proposition. On the other side are the men who feel an interest in the town's future, who believe that a system of water and light works can be managed as economically and very much more satisfactorily by the city than by a corporation. The matter is a serious one and ought to be seriously considered by every man, woman and child in town and voters should not allow themselves to be influenced by the "tax" argument, but should take a common sense and business like view of the situation. If the new project carries, thousands of dollars will be distributed among the working class and directly or indirectly every citizen of the town will be benefitted thereby.

The town will be sure of an abundant supply of pure water and the rate charged therefor per month will be no higher than the present rate and should be much lower. The funds derived from the sale of the bonds will be ample to bring the water to Reno, and the revenue collected will without doubt be sufficient to meet the bonds as they fall due, therefore taxes cannot be increased and the people will own and control the water and light system of the city. On the other hand if the project is defeated, the average man will have to be satisfied with any kind of water the present corporation chooses to supply and pay therefor any price the corporation sees fit to charge, while those who are able to stand the expense, can continue to get drinking water from Peavine and Blue Canyon, corporations will continue to run the town, water and lights will be in quality and quantity just what our masters choose to give us and if we don't like it we can go elsewhere.

Voters, which side of the picture shall we choose?
Reno, October 5, 1897.

THE WATER QUESTION.

Ex-Commissioner McLaughlin's Views as to Character and Cost of System.

To the Honorable City Council, Reno: Gentlemen—As we cannot get any definite information from your Honorable President, Mr. Osburn, I now propose to give you a little information and data on the subject of the cost of construction of the proposed water plant, and to make a few remarks and suggestions on the subject:

A. W. Cravin, Esq., Civil Engineer, Oroton Aqueduct, New York, says: "In cast iron pipe you are dealing with a certainty. I do not consider it true economy to use any known substitute in any portion of a town."

Capt. Edward Ruger, an eminent hydraulic engineer, and for several years Topographical Engineer on Gen. Thomas' staff, says: "I consider it time wasted to hunt for a substitute for cast iron pipe."

Now, gentlemen, if I understand the case correctly, you are proposing to experiment with the people's money by putting in a system of sheet iron pipes, only a little over six times heavier than ordinary stove pipe, to supply water for 20,000 inhabitants, with a head of about 200 feet, and a pressure on the street mains of about 50 pounds to the square inch. I want to ask how long such pipe will stand that pressure?

Any authority on water systems will tell you that in ordering pipe, great allowance should be made for water-rum, caused by emptying and filling the lines. Water is not free from air in service, and the sudden opening and closing of hydrants and valves will certainly produce a water-rum, and these blows will cause a pipe to burst unless you have it of sufficient thickness and strength to withstand them. You have all noticed the thumping of the water in pipes, that is what is called technically "water-rum" and is what causes a great many pipes to break. The only way to guard against this is to have good pipe, and all authorities, worth considering, agree that cast iron pipes of regulation weight are the only pipes worth the trouble and expense of putting into a city's water system, if it is intended to have a system that will work, wear well, and last.

When Reno puts in her own plant, she wants a good one! A stove pipe system that will be forever bursting and breaking, will not fill the bill at all. If we cannot afford to put in a first-class system at this time, then let us wait until we can afford it, and not rush in and spend $130,000 and then be dependent on the present Water Company for our water half or two-thirds of the time.

Mr. Osburn quotes Mr. Schay to the effect that on a guess a system (of stove pipes) can be put in for $100,000. This $100,000 guess, figures on No. 12 and No. 10 sheet iron pipe, which is entirely and completely inadequate.

Now, I figure the kind of plant that Reno ought to have, if she has any at all, as follows: You propose to take the water from the river at about the center of Section 15, T. 10 N., R. 14 E., which is a little more than 8 miles west of our eastern city limits as the crow flies. Reno has about 5,000 inhabitants to-day; hence you must furnish about, or provide for about 4 times as much water as the present Water Company is doing. The water now comes through a 12-inch pipe with about the same head, or its equivalent, as you will have, and to furnish four times the volume, you must double the size of the present pipe. That is a 24-inch pipe will carry four times the volume that a 12-inch pipe will do with the same head, and the same length of pipe and consequent friction. A 24-inch pipe ought to be put in, but let us assume that a 20-inch pipe will do the work. Now that pipe ought to be brought into the city, down Commercial Row to the corner of Virginia street, and then be carried south across the river to as far as Dr. Thoma's house. This would make fully eight miles of this pipe. Then from this pipe the laterals should be run north and south up and down Sierra street and all the parallel streets, and if you will take a rule and scale off the city map, you will see that it would require about 43,200 feet, and this should be at least 8-inch pipe. On the south side of the river the laterals should be run of 8-inch pipe along Mill and Court streets and streets parallel to them, and you will observe that about 13,800 feet would be required for this. That will make 54,000 feet, all told, of 8-inch pipe. From the 8-inch pipes on the north side 6-inch pipes should be run along First, Second, and other parallel streets, and if you will scale them off on the map you will see that about 28,800 feet would be required. On the south side of the river 6-inch pipe should be run on the north and south streets, and you can see by measuring that it would take about 5,000 feet. This would make about 33,800 feet of 6-inch pipe all told. A total of about 17 miles of street mains, or counting the mile and a half of 20-inch pipe inside the city, a total of 18½ miles of street mains. This would give us a fine system, and just about adequate to comply with the requirements of the law and furnish water for 20,000 population.

Now as to the cost of such a system: Messrs. Miller, Sloss & Scott, successors to Huntington, Hopkins & Co., and the largest hardware house on the Coast, quote, delivered at Sacramento from the Eastern manufacturers, $26 50 per ton of 2,000 pounds, for cast iron water pipe of standard weight. Twenty-inch pipe weighs 185 pounds per lineal foot; 8-inch pipe weighs 43 pounds per foot; and 6-inch pipe weighs 33 pounds per foot, hence:

8 mls 20-in pipe—42,240 ft—
3,907.2 tons at $26 50.....$103,540 80
8 mls 8-in pipe—54,000 ft—
1,161 0 tons at $26 50.....30,768 50
8 mls 6-in pipe—33,800 ft—
557.7 tons at $26 50.....14,779 05
Freight to Reno 5,625.9
tons at $6 80.....38,256 12

Hydrants, tees, crosses, elbows, bends, sleeves, plugs, reducers, valves, etc., will cost not less than.....10,000 00
Hauling pipes, digging the trenches, laying pipes, covering, etc., 20-inch pipe not less than $1 per foot.....42,240 00
The same on 8-inch pipe, not less than 60c per foot.....32,400 00
The same on 6-inch pipe, not less than 55c per foot.....18,590 00 $290,572 47

We certainly ought to have a reservoir of a capacity of 20,000,000 gallons, and that will cost piped about.....20,000 00 $310,572 47

The foregoing estimates simply show the approximate cost of piping water to the city and laying the street mains, and building a reservoir, and running the pipes to and from the same, and with economy and careful management, these estimates would probably not be exceeded more than $25,000.

I have made no estimate of what the water rights will probably cost, nor what the right of way will cost, nor what the land at the head of the pipe line will cost, but the last two items will undoubtedly cost several thousands of dollars.

The water right cannot be estimated as it cannot be had, and you must depend on the surplusage or waste water to supply your wants. Section 33 of the Incorporation Act in this last clause says: "Provided that this section shall not authorize said Council to appropriate any water previously appropriated by any person, nor to interfere with any vested rights then existing in such water." Now in the face of that clause, how are you going to get any water? Who has any for sale? In case of a dry season, the prior vested rights would have to be supplied first, and they would take every drop of the flow, and you would not be able to furnish water enough to this town to supply the Truckee Stables alone. You cannot steal it from the ranchers who have vested rights in it, and Reno will be without city water, and those people who may feel they have been misled will talk rudely to you, perhaps.

You are complaining very bitterly about the water now being furnished to the city by the Water Company, and yet you propose to take a supply of that same identical water, taken from the same river, and bring it into the city in light pipes. The same water, taken from the same river about one mile from where the Water Company is now taking its supply, and you fail to show how you intend to acquire title to the water in the first place, and why it will be any better than the water we are getting now in the second place.

Now, I predict that if the bond scheme comes at the coming election, that you will expend the whole $130,000 and for that vast sum you will not be equipped to supply any portion of this city with water of any quality whatever; that another appropriation and a further indebtedness of $150,000 will be needed to complete the work, and when completed we will have an underground system of riveted pipes furnishing us for some of the time perhaps, with the same identical water, and at the same price, that we are getting now.

Mr. Osburn and Mr. Ryland are the two members of your Honorable Council who seem to be agitating this matter more than all the rest, and I want to ask them why it is that they are so very anxious to foist this cheap water system on the town at this time? Is it pure philanthropy? If so, why have they both hid their philanthropic lights under a bushel, so very securely, lo, all these years? Hid them so securely that not a twinkle of the light has ever before escaped! Hid them so securely that no one has ever suspected either of them of philanthropy!

It would be a business proposition to wait a while longer until we are able to buy and own a supply of water and then bring it into the town in good first-class cast iron pipes, and with a proper system of reservoirs. Your scheme will spend a whole lot of money and give us nothing but an increase of taxation!

I have read the Gazette's interview with Mr. Osburn, published in the issue of that paper of the 4th as an editorial, and note that Mr. Osburn apologizes for the weakness of his proposition, and says in effect that he has done the best he could with the means at command. Why did he not take up a collection amongst his pure water philanthropic friends, and then get reliable data, and have some well arranged and feasible plan to submit to the voters, instead of a lot of guesses, with no penalty attached if the estimate has been guessed wrong?

I have also read Mr. Osburn's answer to Mr. Dodge in the JOURNAL of the 5th, and I will now proceed to puncture some of the gentleman's arguments. He says: "I believe from careful investigation, that $130,000 will be sufficient to give Reno such a water plant as the City Charter contemplates." What does his careful investigation consist of? Nothing more or less than getting a Sacramento hardware man, with pipe to sell, to give a guess on the cost of a cheap pipe system; and a little digging on another man's land to see if water will filter itself up hill from the river to a ditch; then when it was found that the water would not run up hill, it was thought the river water could be filtered through several yards of cobble stones and come out pure; then this idea was abandoned and now it is proposed to furnish straight out river water. Everybody ought to know that the water in the Truckee river has all been taken up with ditch rights, and that even in an ordinarily dry season, the City Fathers cannot take any water until all prior rights have been satisfied. Those owning prior water rights cannot reasonably be expected to give up their water to the city without full compensation, and the city has no right to comdemn and take it. Consequently they must purchase, and no steps have been taken to ascertain what a requisite quantity can be purchased for.

It is a sure thing that if the city proceeds to put in a system without purchasing a bona fide water right, that every summer will see it without any water to run in its store pipes. Hence Mr. Osburn's assumption that all the consumers will quit the old company and take the city water is an assumption that the consumers are all a pack and parcel of fools. They will stay with the old company, which owns a vested right in 1,500 inches for their Highland ditch. On this hypothesis it is fair to assume that at least one-half of the consumers will continue to do their business with the old company. There is nothing in the Incorporation Act giving the city's works a monopoly.

The old company will have just as much right to sell water as they have now, and it is fair to assume that they will do so.

Mr. Osburn further says: "We may take, for the sake of round numbers and to have a safe margin, $15,000 as the average amount to be raised per annum to meet all bonds, interest and running expenses." Now if the old company keeps one-half the business at the present rates, and their income from water being only about $22,000 per annum the city will have $11,000 to meet this $15,000 with, and if rates are cut one-half, as Mr. Osburn intimates, then the city will have $5,500 to meet this $15,000 with.

Mr. Osburn figures that two men can do all the work, keep the pipe in order, and do the collecting. Now, on this contemplated system of stove pipes, I assert that an average force of at least twelve men will be needed all the time to keep the line in repair, and that the water will be shut off for at least 25 per cent of the time to enable those repairs to be made.

But, if anyone entertains the idea that the people will come rushing over one another to get away from the present company to come to the city water system, they make a great mistake. It will have to be demonstrated that it is the best and cheapest in the surest as to supply before getting a dozen customers, and as there are no water rights of any kind or description to begin with, I fail to see how you will convince anybody of your ability to furnish them with water.

Another thing. The arrogance of private corporation officials is not a marker to the arrogance of the powers in charge of a municipal system. A kick to them is wasted on the desert air. They have no personal interests to suffer, and the people can take the water they furnish or let it alone, even to a greater extent than has been complained of in connection with the old company. The city pipes will also contain fish and as much pollution as any other system taken from the same source.

I might be in favor of some reasonable system, but this present proposition which is being submitted to the people is lacking in every essential detail of business sense or prudence.

I have assumed in the foregoing that you have decided to take water straight from the river—in fact, have been told so—but, as this has been denied by someone, I have taken the pains to talk with several parties who have been up and examined your work and your "pure water" and they one and all tell me that you have not THREE INCHES available supply in your present workings. Hence it is a plain proposition—you take water from the river or you will have no water at all, and as all the river water is "vested," I wish someone would explain to the people where you are going to get this much bragged of pure water of which you print the analysis with so much pride.

Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.
The State of Nevada sends to Dan Wm.
Taylor greeting:
You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Mrs. Dan Wm. Taylor as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein with ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of day of service). If served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between the plaintiff and defendant, upon the grounds that the defendant did on or about the 1st day of June, A.
D. 1897, commit adultery with one Myrtle Uetreicher at the town of Elko, county of Elko, and State of Nevada, and upon the further ground that said defendant did on or about the 1st day of June, A. D. 1897, commit adultery with one Emma Gleason at the town of Elko, county of Nevada, and upon the further ground that said defendant did on the further ground that defendant did, on divers days and times between said day of June and the commencement of this action, commit adultery with the said Emma Gleason, at the town of Elko, county of Elko, and State of Utah, and that plaintiff be decreed to be restored to her maiden name, Emma Fraser. All of which will more fully appear from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are expressly referred. You are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.
In testimony whereof, I have here-unto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court, at Reno, this 28th day of August, A. D. 1897.
Clerk of the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.

ELECTION NOTICE.

UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF THE AUthority of certain Acts of the Legislature of the State of Nevada, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Town of Reno," approved March 8th, 1897.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN
That on Thursday, the seventh (7th) day of October, A. D. 1897, a special election will be held in the different Wards of the City of Reno, Washoe county, Nevada, at which election there will be submitted to the qualified electors of the said City of Reno, as shown by the latest official list, the question, as to whether the City Council, of the City of Reno, may issue bonds of the City of Reno, in the sum of one hundred and thirty thousand ($130,000) dollars, payable in equal annual installments between and including the sixth and the twentieth years from the date of issuance, bearing interest at the rate of six per centum payable annually, both principal and interest payable at maturity at the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Reno, for the purpose of establishing an electrical light plant, for lighting the streets and houses of the said City of Reno.
Also the question as to whether the City of Reno may issue bonds of the City of Reno, in the amount of twenty thousand ($20,000) dollars, payable in equal annual installments between and including the sixth and the twentieth years from the date of issuaance, bearing interest at the rate of six per centum payable annually, both principal and interest payable at maturity at the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Reno, for the purpose of establishing an electrical light plant, for lighting the streets and
houses of the said City of Reno.
At the said special election the different propositions included in the said questions will be submitted to the said electors in the form follows to-wit:

1.—Shall Reno be bonded in the sum of $130,000, for the pur- pose of procuring water and sewerage works?	YES. NO.
2.—Shall such bonds be payable in equal annual installments between and including the sixth and twentieth years from their date of issuance, together with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable annually at their ma- turity at the office of the City Treasurer of Reno?	YES. NO.
3.—Shall Reno be bonded in the sum of $20,000, for the pur- pose of establishing an electric light plant?	YES. NO.
4.—Shall such bonds be payable in equal annual installments between and including the sixth and twentieth years from their date of issuance, together with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable annually at their ma- turity at the office of the City Treasurer of Reno?	YES. NO.

At the special election the polls will be open at eight o'clock A. M. excepting that not more than one hour for recess may be taken in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover judgment and decrees of this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between you and said plaintiff, upon the ground of willful desertion for a period of more than one year, to-wit: ever-since on or about the 8th day of November, 1895, and against his will, wish or consent.
All of which will more fully appear from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are expressly referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.
In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court at Reno, this 16th day of September, A. D.
1897.

SEEKING ADVICE.
The Habit of Going to Others for Counsel.
There is a certain class of women who habitually seek advice. They often do this as if they were conferring a compliment upon the superior judgment or knowledge of human affairs possessed by the person sought. There are certain friends that every one of us possesses who are so nearly related to us by ties of friendship or kindred, that they are as deeply interested in our doings, our comings and goings as we are ourselves. It is to such persons a sensitive, refined woman naturally turns, and not to a comparative stranger. Yet the woman who habitually seeks advice seldom goes to such a legitimate source. She comes to a person who is a trifle startled and half flattered perhaps by the request. The woman who does this may not be aware of it herself, but she is often a sham; she is not seeking advice, but sympathy. She usually desires to follow a certain course, and has often become so stubbornly fixed in her determination that nothing short of a violent upheaval of all her plans would keep her from it.
She will not follow advice. She wishes merely to be confirmed in her previously formed opinion. She wishes to gain sympathy with her plans and strength of purpose to do as she prefers to do.
There are few persons so selfish or so tiresome as those who persistently throw their burden of whatever nature upon other people. If there is a problem to be solved at school or a difficult example to be done, there are always a number of scholars who wait until certain schoolmates arrive, and then copy the work from them. The rule is the same in mature life. There are certain people habitually too "tired" to think for themselves. They wait and ask advice of Mrs. Brown or Mrs. Smith, who are in no way bound to them, except as obliging neighbors. These women probably have their own life problems to occupy them, and it is an unjust and selfish thing to burden them down with problems they are not called on legitimately to solve. One of the most aggravating ways of the woman who habitually seeks advice is the certainty with which she holds her obliging neighbor responsible for every failure that advice given her brings. It is hard to bear one's own blunders, but doubtless hard to bear the blunders which other people have committed upon advice which has been honestly given.
The truth is that no one but some person who is fully cognizant of all the circumstances which environ an individual is capable of giving advice on vital matters.
It is for this reason that even more objectionable personage, "the woman who is always giving advice," is not to be tolerated. She is particularly decided in matters judged from the superficial external light in which she sees them, and therefore her judgment is an impertinence.—N. Y. Tribune.

Greece has ordered a new issue of postage stamps, to gradually replace the old Olympic series as the latter became exhausted.
Portugal and her colonies are soon to have unpaid letter stamps. In the center will be a large figure of value, with each of arms above and locomotive and steam below. Furthermore, there are seven series of Vasco da Gama jubilee stamps to be engraved.
A man has been arrested in Chicago for erasing the cancellations on postage stamps and endeavoring to make them do postal duty a second time. A letter presented for registration, bearing two four-cent stamps which had evidently been cleared, attracted the attention of the post office officials, and he accordingly secured the man's arrest.

The most rapid advance in the value of any article in philately has been in a French postage stamp issued in commemoration of the czar's visit to Paris.
They happen to have been through the post on the day of the czar's ar-ival, and are therefore cancelled with a stamp of that date, the fact is sufficient to enable them to bring purchasers at one dollar each.
Switzerland has not only the cheapest postal rates, but also the largest number of post offices per unit of population. There has been proposed for every 4,782 inhabitants in Great Britain, for every 1,000 in Germany, for every 1,476 in the United States, for every 887, and Switzerland for every 815 inhabitants. It will be seen that the United States, in spite of their immense territory, are second, keep the second place among all the nations.
